Chicago, March 31 .- Superintendent McCourt, of the water bureau ompleted his report containing estimates on the amount lost to the city through the scandals in the bureau He figured it at a total of $9,500,000 n ten years.

Of this sum $5,000,000 was lost hrough theft of water by the manipuation of water meters and false readngs of them by city employes, he says. Another $3,000,000 represents the loss from the failure to make the water rate assessments annually, as was provided for by law. Charges against fifteen more employes in the water bureau are in sight as the result of further investigations that have been made by Superintendent McCourt.

The system they employed was disovered first in connection with the aspection of a meter in the plant of a big brewery. It is claimed that the rate takers simply dropped off the last figures, making the bill of the company read for tens of thousands of gallons when it should have read for hundreds of thousands.

Bismarck

OW many living men can squarely stand up and honestly compare themselves as the equal or superior (in any way whatsoever) to the great Iron Chancellor of the Hohenzollern's, who made Goethe's dream of Germanic unity a realistic drama of "iron and of blood?"

How many dare declare, "I have greater brain power than he"-"I have a stronger body"-"I am healthier"-"I have a saner knowledge"-"I am more successful" or "I have more force of character?"

Bismarck, during his marvelous career, outwitted the most celebrated statesmen of his time; terrified the mightiest kings and emperors; overthrew and conquered three armed nations; and ruled over the empire he created with enlightened and practical wisdom for nearly half a century, dying at the ripe old age of 89, famous throughout the world as the "Greatest of the Germans."

Now, upon what nutriment was this colossus fed that he grew so mighty; what put the iron into his blood? This we know -that like all Germans he believed in good eating and drinking, hence the juices of malt and hops were never absent from his table.

WHO IS REMISS.

Governor Willson explains the constitutional division of government to his critics in a reply he made at the Law and Order League meeting in Louisville, to charges that he is not fighting the trusts. Governor Wilson suggested that he is not a court officer. There are 119 county attorneys and 33 commonwealth's attorneys in the state, whose duty it is to enforce the statutory law against all violators, including trusts, and some of the governor's critics are found among these very officials. On the other hand, the governor is the chief peace officer and he observes anarchy, arson and murder going on unrebuked by these commonwealth's attorneys, outside Marshall county and one or two other places. As peace officer, observing county officers failing in their duty, he is proceeding in his own way to stamp out the fires of lawlessness and he says he will do it. He also assures the people that he will cut off his right arm before he will call on "What are ye wearin' that mournful the federal government for aid.

Rev. M. E. Dodd Tells About the Ministry at High School.

Names of All Graduates Will Appear in the Annual This Year Will Be of Interest,

A series of talks by business men of the city began this morning at the with the Rev. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church, addressing the students on "Inducements of the Ministry." In the address Dr. Dodd gave some interesting statistics on the profession, and discussed the advantages and disadvantages of students entering the ministry. Taking the leading denominations of the world there are 210,199 churches in the world, and only 161,731 have regular pastors, which means there are 48, 408 churches without pastors. In the profession there is one minster for every 500 people, according o the latest census, and in no other profession is there such a rating. Uner the point of the full development f a round mane Dr. Dodd discussed the intellectual and social side of the frock coat. The pastor is in constant tough with the people of the best solety was one of the speaker's points. To complete the inducements Dr. Dodd spoke on the remuneration of the church, and compared it with the come of other professions.

These series of talks by business and professional men of the city will e kept up until every profession has een covered. An interesting program for the week has been prepared. It is the intention of Prof. W. H.
